

Comma Response Team

The Comma Response Team is now live.

Comprising over 50 high calibre freelancers, our responders will provide remote internal/change/crisis comms delivery and/or writing services on a short-term interim basis for teams which are short of manpower or overwhelmed by the unrelenting demand for communication during this Covid19 pandemic.

Running for at least three months, our quick responders can step in immediately for one day, one week, one month, full or part-time or 24/7 - whatever is needed by any client small or large in any sector.

Keeping this simple, our responders are on competitive flat day rates for delivery (£450) or writing (£300). Comma knows and can vouch for all our responders, and will manage hiring, compliance, and payments, and at a special discounted rate for known clients, non-corporates, small businesses, charities and key worker businesses.

All that's needed is a briefing call, a review of CVs, a video interview and help is virtually to hand within 24 hours subject to client screening.

Comma will continue its core business which is to place high calibre interims and consultants on contracts where assistance is needed on change projects and with internal communications.
